

Four sets, one shelf.

Four separate planning sets, each designed on its own terms rather than recoloured from one template. You do not need all four. Most people use one, and borrow a page or two from another.

1 First Move

STARTING, AND TIME · 8 PAGES

One real task a day, a first move small enough to do, a brain dump with a column for letting things go, and a page that teaches you how long things really take.

2 Same Shape

ORDER, AND CHANGE · 9 PAGES

The day as a sequence, a page for when the plan changes, sensory needs written down once, and sentences prepared before you need them.

3 Steady

WORRY, AND EVIDENCE · 9 PAGES

A worry window with a closing time, a thought record, grounding, and a log of what you feared against what happened.

4 Small Light

LOW DAYS, AND SAFETY · 9 PAGES

A daily page that takes two minutes, three versions of a day written in advance, an activity log, and a safety plan.

Please read this part. These are journals and planners. They are not therapy, treatment, diagnosis or medical care, and they do not replace them. If any of this is making daily life hard, talking to a doctor is worth more than any planner. If you are in danger or thinking about harming yourself, contact your local emergency number or a crisis line now. Small Light page 8 is where you write those numbers down — do that today, while you can.

1 Open the second sheet first

“Which page today” is a table: what is happening on the left, which set and page on the right. Print it and keep it at the front of the folder.

2 Print one daily page, not four

Pick the set that matches this month and print ten copies of its first page. Four daily pages is four decisions before breakfast.

3 Fill the written-when-calm pages early

Same Shape 4 and 5, Steady 9, Small Light 2 and 8 are written on a good day and used on a bad one. That is the whole point of them.

Which page today?

FIND THE LINE THAT IS CLOSEST

Nothing here has to be used in order

WHAT IS HAPPENING		SET	PAGE	WHAT THAT PAGE DOES
I cannot make myself start	●	First Move	3	Task breakdown, then the first move
My head is too full to choose	●	First Move	2	Brain dump, then triage
I keep running out of time	●	First Move	4	Guess, then time it
Something changed and I am thrown	●	Same Shape	3	What changed, what stays the same
Too loud, too bright, too much	●	Same Shape	4	Sensory page, then the after plan
I have to make a phone call	●	Same Shape	6	Sentences you can read out
An appointment is coming	●	Same Shape	7	Prepared before, recovery after
I cannot stop turning it over	●	Steady	2	Worry time, with a closing time
One thought will not let go	●	Steady	3	Thought record
I am sure something bad will happen	●	Steady	4	Write the prediction, check it later
My body will not settle	●	Steady	6	Grounding and breathing
Everything feels out of my hands	●	Steady	5	Mine, and not mine
Getting up is the whole day	●	Small Light	1	The things that count
I do not know what I can manage	●	Small Light	2	Three versions of a day
Nothing seems worth doing	●	Small Light	3	Do it, then rate it
I have gone quiet on everyone	●	Small Light	6	Messages you can copy
It is very dark today	●	Small Light	8	Safety plan, and the numbers

THE THREE I ACTUALLY USE

Write them here after a fortnight

1 _____ 2 _____ 3 _____